TWO-CENT FARE ACT WILL STAND

Overturning Of The Missouri Measure Will Not Lead To Contest In Wisconsin.

UNIVERSITY SEX SEGREGATION

Question Raised Again By Hambrecht's Bill--Anti-Vivisection
Problem At Madison--Other News
From Capital.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., March 9.—That the overturning of the two-cent fare law in Missouri by Judge McPherson yesterday will in no way lead to a contest on the two-cent act in Wisconsin is the general opinion of legislators here. From the beginning the Missouri law was contested in the courts, while in Wisconsin the law was permitted to go into operation without contest, or even the suggestion of a contest since it has been in operation.

At first the railroad attorneys said they would give Wisconsin a six months' trial with the law and if the earnings were not sufficient they would then take the matter into the courts. The law went into effect in August, 1907, and local traffic managers report an increase in the earnings and in the number of persons carried in spite of an intervening period of depression.

The law in Wisconsin is different in many vital respects from the Missouri act. The "value" act states that the two-cent fare would be effective. In this state the law designated no roads specifically, but said that "no corporation operating a railroad in this state, the gross receipts of which are or exceed $5,000 per mile, per annum, shall demand, collect, or receive a greater compensation for the transportation of persons than two cents per mile."

This created a class out of the railroads, whose earnings were high, including the North-Western, St. Paul and Burlington roads. Immediately, the Wisconsin Central voluntarily placed itself in the same class by ordering a two-cent rate on its own lines, although its earnings would not place it within the jurisdiction of the act.

Under the Wisconsin tax commission and railroad rate commission over justified their existence, they have today, said one of the legislators, "while the two and one-half cent fare law was in operation by order of the railroad commission, sufficient information was gathered to justify a two-cent rate. With the accurate valuation of railroads made by the tax commission, considered with the details of information for cost of service compiled by the railroad commission the railroads would have a hopeless task overturning the Wisconsin two-cent fare law. In Missouri the attack on the law was made during a period of depression, but in Wisconsin information in great detail as to the cost of passenger traffic was gathered long before the depression came and the two-cent fare law went into effect."

The data gathered by the railroad rate commission under the operation of the two-cent fare law is not in such shape as to be made public at this time, said one of the commissioners yesterday. He said that this information would be tabulated soon and the results would be announced.

Women And the University.
What is expected to be one of the largest legislative hearings at this session of the legislature attracting the attendance of scores of university students has been set for Wednesday evening on the bill prohibiting segregation of sexes in the university.

The bill was introduced in the legislature by Assemblyman George P. Hambrecht and was once recommended for passage by the committee on education, but has been recalled and set for a second hearing at the request of President Van Hise. He is expected to appear in person to oppose the bill. The part of the bill at the hearing will be championed by Miss Helen Olin of Madison.

The idea was brought up before the board of regents about a year ago, but received an unfavorable report. The segregation idea has been considered in the university since early in the sixties. When President Chubbourn was elected president of the university he had in mind that the school should be alone for men and a statute was passed allowing the board of regents to decide the matter. The old law had been forgotten, until the Hambrecht bill came into the legislature, which would restore to the legislature the power to direct such a policy.

"Schools like Yale and Bryn Mawr especially for men and women have their virtues," said Mr. Hambrecht today. "But, in my judgment, supported by state money should have no policy of discrimination. I think if there is one girl who wants to take law, or another to study engineering, she should be allowed to do so. The state ought not to bar one sex or the other so long as the institution is maintained at state's expense. The legislature should have the right to decide this policy. It is the state's children who are being educated and no one or more persons should arbitrarily say that women shall not study this or that. For this reason a law prohibiting segregation should be passed."

Mr. Hambrecht said that Mrs. Olin has made a thorough investigation of the problem and had gathered statistics regarding the class standings of the university girls and men at the university. It is said that while the girls have maintained the standings as high as the men there has been a continual decrease in the number of fellowships and scholarships awarded women.

Among the university girls the sentiment in favor of the Hambrecht bill is pronounced and the girls' edition of the Daily Cardinal several days ago contained an editorial saying that "the opposition to the Hambrecht bill is almost an insult to the womanhood of Wisconsin." In the same issue was an open letter by former governor, W. D. Hoard, a university regent, in which he favored the Hambrecht bill.

The hearings have been set at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening in order to give the university girls an opportunity to appear and defend their interests. The same evening a hearing will be given on another Hambrecht bill, which would give the women a representative on the board of regents of the university. The hearing will be in room 307, south wing, now occupied by the secretary of the board of normal regents.

Mercy to the Gray Cats.
Harbors of evil in Wisconsin will be checked if the assembly committee on public health acts favorably upon a bill by George P. Hambrecht of Grand Rapids. The bill, which is now in the hands of the committee, is a measure to prevent the carrying of live creatures suffering from rabies into the state.

The bill is a measure to prevent the carrying of live creatures suffering from rabies into the state. It is a measure to prevent the carrying of live creatures suffering from rabies into the state. It is a measure to prevent the carrying of live creatures suffering from rabies into the state.

Under the terms of the Hambrecht anti-vivisection bill, the cross-school teacher in biology and physiology will not be permitted to send her pupils scurrying through the country on the search for small lizards and mongrel curs for use in demonstrating heart action to wondering children.

The Hambrecht bill makes it necessary for teachers to get permits from the state board of health, from local health boards or from hospitals or colleges before they may take up the knife against dumb creatures. Vivisection is permitted only under certain conditions laid down in detail in the bill. The Hambrecht bill will be given a hearing tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Military School Bill.
Tomorrow afternoon the senate committee on military affairs will take up Senator Hazelwood's bill which provides that St. John's military academy at Delaford shall be constituted a part of the Wisconsin National guard. The governor by the terms of the bill, is authorized to provide for its annual inspection by a committee. Officers of the school are given W. N. G. commissions, the president being made a colonel and the instructors first lieutenants. The school already is approved by the United States regular army and a regular army officer is assigned to it constantly to oversee the work of the young cadets.

Internal Revenue Tribute.
Fines and penalties are collected from United States internal revenue taxpayers annually amounting to over $1,000,000 according to the reports of the federal departments. It is said that this is because there is no means of keeping persons informed on the internal revenue laws. Charles O. Walden and Don E. Mowry of Madison have compiled a book entitled "The Revenue Law Reformer" with the aim to prevent violations.

The two are of about the same height and build and as both are hard hitters they are expected to put up a lively and interesting contest.

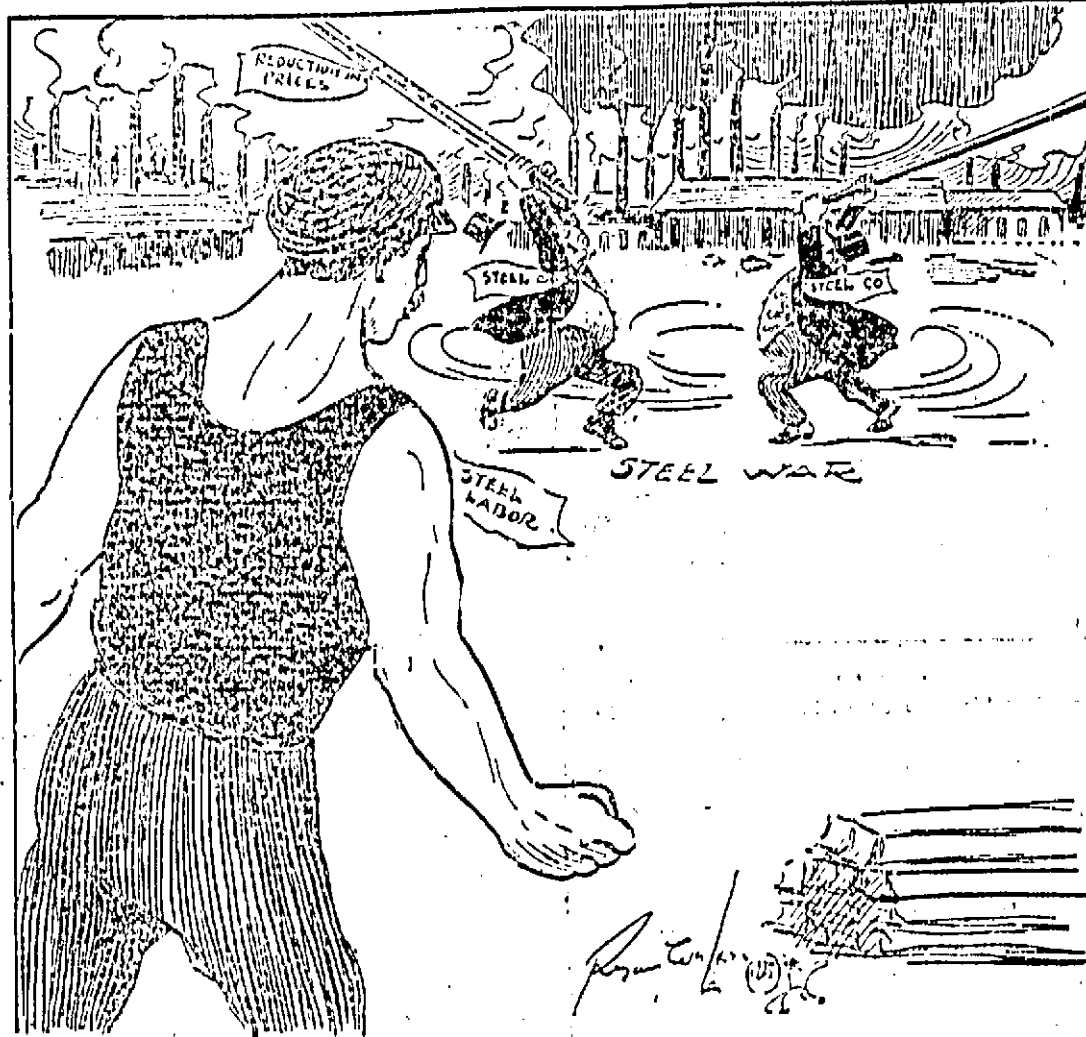

MILBRAITH GOES TO THE PENITENTIARY

That is Effect of Supreme Court's Decision in Case of Alleged Milwaukee Embezzler.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milwaukee, Wis., March 9.—Chas. W. Milbraith, the well-known real estate man of Milwaukee, will serve three years in the penitentiary for the embezzlement of $200. This was in effect the decree of the supreme court of Wisconsin today when it affirmed the sentence given by Judge Williams. Milbraith is alleged to have used the money belonging to Mrs. Helen Milbraith while he was president of the C. W. Milbraith company.

SWEDISH-AMERICAN REPUBLICANS MEET

Nearly a Thousand Delegates From Various Sections of Illinois Attended Session in Chicago.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Chicago, Ill., March 9.—Nearly one thousand delegates from the state met in Chicago today for the annual convention of the Swedish-American Republican League of Illinois. Each year the league holds its convention on March 9, which is known as "John Ericsson Day," in commemoration of the great Swedish engineer who built the Monitor. The proceedings of the convention today were devoted to the reception of reports and the transaction of business of a routine character. Public interest centered chiefly in the convention banquet tonight, at which Governor Deneen, Senator La Follette of Wisconsin and other republican leaders of national prominence are scheduled to speak.

Low Stage of Membership Is Almost Unprecedented—Believed That Plus Will Call Consistory in April.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Home, March 9.—By the death of Cardinal Sancha, archbishop of Toledo, the College of Cardinals has been reduced to fifty-three, the lowest number to which the membership has dropped in many years. Some plus members in the consistory have been dropped in many years. Some plus members in the consistory have been dropped in many years.

Many of the 53 survivors are very old, and others of infirm health. The oldest is Cardinal Giuseppe, archbishop of Vienna, who is in his eightieth year. He is followed by Cardinals Gregorio, di Pietro and Sammea, who are 80 and the youngest is Merry de Val, who is 43.

The Sacred College is divided into three orders, the cardinal-bishops, the cardinal-priests and the cardinal-deacons. The first are only six and are bishops of the dioceses near Rome; the cardinal-priests are forty-two, some of them residing in Rome and have their dioceses outside the cardinal-deacons are only five, residing in Caria, e in the Eternal City, and have no dioceses.

Among the Cardinals there are now only 22 foreigners, the Italians being 31. The question of a better and larger representation of the non-Italian element in the direction of the affairs of the Church, especially with regard to America, is pressing and becoming every year more urgent. If a proportion were established between the Cardinals and the Catholic population of the countries from which they come, considering that the plenium of the Sacred College is 70 members, Italy should only have eleven Cardinals, whereas she has had as high as 25 and never less than 30. On the same hypothesis the United States and its possessions would be entitled to eight Cardinals. Instead of one as is the case. Possibly America may be given another Cardinal in the near future, but the possibility is regarded as very remote in the best-informed circles here.

But seventeen vacant hats is an almost unprecedented number and it is clear that some of them must be filled within a short time. The Pope's aversion to holding consistories—he has held but four of these elective assemblies during his pontificate—is well known, but it is believed that he will now find it necessary to hold a consistory in April according to plans made some time ago.

Already names are mentioned of those who will be honored in the coming consistory. In all probability the next appointment will include Monsignor Disseti, the Papal majordomo, a prelate of the old school who has been in every American who has visited the Vatican. Others are who considered in line for elevation to the cardinalate are Mr. Granillo di Belmonte, Papal Nuncio in Vienna, and Mgr. Amette, archbishop of Paris.

W. O. W. HEAD CAMP NOW IN CONVENTION

Houston, Texas, Is the Scene of Big Gathering Session Will Close On Friday.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Houston, Texas, March 9.—The seventh biennial convention of the head of the Woodmen of the World and of the state Grove of the Woodmen Circle has attracted to Houston several thousand members of the fraternity resident in all parts of Texas. The two bodies held their joint opening session in the Auditorium this morning. Following the exchange of greetings and other formalities the two bodies went into executive session. The program for the gathering extends over four days. Many attractive features of entertainment will intersperse the business sessions. Tonight there is to be a grand parade of illuminated floats emblematic of Woodmen. The gathering will close Friday night with a series of prize drill contests.

Michigan and Wisconsin Brewers, Meeting at Milwaukee, Seek Ways

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Milwaukee, Wis., March 9.—The spread of prohibition sentiment, the movement for the elevation of the moral tone of saloons and several other matters of importance are slated for discussion at the annual convention of the Wisconsin and Upper Michigan Brewers' association, which assembled in this city today. Much routine business relating to the affairs of the association also demands attention and it is probable that the session will continue over tomorrow.

Prosecution Is Just Closing Its Case
After Fourteen Months and Defense Will Soon Begin.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
New York, March 9.—The hearing in the Government suit against the alleged powder trust was resumed in this city today to take the testimony of one of the witnesses who was absent from the previous hearings. The testimony of this witness will close the case of the prosecution. The Government has been fourteen months in presenting its side of the case. It will probably take fully as long for the defense to put in its testimony, so that it may be a year or two before a decision is reached in the famous case.

Between the Monitor and Merrimac
Re-Called at the Laying of Keel for New Battleship Florida.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
New York, March 9.—In the presence of a considerable gathering of interested spectators, the keel was laid for the navy yard in Brooklyn today for the 20,000-ton battleship "Florida." Because of the fact that it happened to be the anniversary of the historic battle between the Monitor and the Merrimac the event was made an occasion for brief but interesting ceremonies in charge of Rear Admiral Goodrich and Naval Constructor Taylor. The "Florida" when completed will take rank among the most formidable fighting machines in the world. She will be of the same size and class as the Delaware, North Dakota and Utah, now building. These vessels are of 20,000 tons and are known as "all-big-gun" battleships.

CUT LUMBER DUTY

Hides to Be Free Under New Tariff Law.

PLAN TO REVIVE WAR TAX

Problem of Providing the Necessary Funds for the Government Discussed by Taft and Leaders at White House Conference.Washington, Mar. 9.—It is understood that one of the important changes in the tariff will be a cut of one-half in the duties on lumber and manufactures of lumber. The new bill is now being printed preparatory to its final revision by the Republican members of the house, ways and means committee.Another change that has been made, according to information from reliable sources, is that hides have been placed on the free list. There has been much contention over the duties of these two articles.It is said a proviso reviving the war revenue act of 1898, which placed a tax on telegrams, bank checks, playing cards and all stocks bought or sold, will also be placed in the bill.In the talk about the new schedules it is reported, among other things, that despite the great cuts to be made on certain classes of goods the new measure will provide additional revenue of at least $350,000,000 annually. Fifty millions of this increase, it is said, will come from coffee, on which a duty of four cents will be levied. This is a compromise with the Porto Ricans, who asked a six-cent levy.During the hearings of the lumber schedule the testimony was of such a character as to lead to the impression that lumber would be put on the free list. It was said that the forests of the country could only be conserved by admitting foreign lumber free of duty.California's Unduly Large.
It is understood that Clifford Pinchot, chief forester, is preparing figures for the committee in a further effort to have lumber placed on the free list.
Champ Clark declared at the hearings that the profits of the lumber interests were unduly large.Representative Fordney of Michigan, a member of the committee, has championed the cause of the lumbermen, and the latter have been working energetically to prevent the free entry of lumber. They contend that the rates of duty should be increased in order that the American industry may compete with the cheaper labor employed in Canada and because of the better facilities for transportation afforded by the proximity of the Canadian lumber camps to waterways.Yankees Fight for Free Hides.
The effort to obtain free hides is being made principally by the New England shoe and leather manufacturers, and is strongly opposed by the cattle men of the west. It is said that the tariff framers have agreed to a matterial reduction on leather manufactures.An impression prevails that the plan is to have the hide and leather schedule fixed in conference after the questions have been thoroughly threshed out on the floor of the house, in the senate finance committee and on the floor of the senate.Champ Clark, the house minority leader and the ranking Democrat on the ways and means committee, spent considerable time yesterday with Mr.
Underwood in laying out the plan to be followed by the minority in its fight on the floor. It is understood that the policy of the Democrats will be to criticize the Republican bill and offer amendments to it. They will follow a tariff-for-revenue rather than a free trade policy.Conference with Taft.
The problem of financing the government—providing the necessary funds to carry on the projects under way and maintain the plans of the Taft administration, and making the demands square with a new tariff schedule—is the work with which President Taft, Senator Aldrich, Speaker Cannon and Secretary of the Treasury MacVane were engaged at a two-hour conference at the White House yesterday.The necessity for the enactment of a tariff bill at the earliest possible moment was discussed there being little reference to the details of the proposed legislation. President Taft told his special message on tariff revision would contain no reference to specific schedules. Mr. Taft, however, has made a consistent fight for a genuine revision of the tariff, and has let it be known in many ways that he would be satisfied with nothing less. In his inaugural address he frankly called attention to the $100,000,000 deficit which confronted his administration and he suggested the possible necessity of an inheritance tax to make up some of the future revenue. Franklin MacVane has allowed himself to be quoted as to the possible necessity of a stamp tax.Shoots Wife as a Burglar.

a discrepancy in the accounts of the Western penitentiary has been found by convicted bankers who are prisontigation, it is believed, will make the amount much larger.The board of visitors of the Western penitentiary some time since appointed Henry Reiber, formerly paying teller of the Farmers' Deposit National bank, now an inmate of the penitentiary, to audit the books of the institution.Finding an apparent discrepancy and being unwilling to assume all responsibility, Reiber secured the assistance of William Montgomery, former cashier of the Allegheny National bank, and J. B. F. Rhinclair, former cashier of the Farmers' and Drapers' National bank of Waynesburg, Pa., both convicted in the Western penitentiary, who are said to have agreed was made yesterday to the board of

of Warden William Johnson, before making further investigation.

SENATE GRILL FOR STEPHENSON.

Report He Bought Nomination May Be Probed in Washington.Washington, Mar. 9.—All present indications are that the senate will soon begin another long investigation into charges that one of its members has purchased a seat in that body. This will depend on the evidence of corruption developed by the inquiry now being made by the legislature of Wisconsin into allegations that Isaac Stephenson is guilty of corruption in obtaining his own re-election.If the legislature of Wisconsin finds against Mr. Stephenson it is almost certain the senate committee on privileges and elections will be instructed to take the matter up and determine what action should be taken in the premises.No conclusion has been reached as to who shall escort Mr. Stephenson when he takes the oath. Mr. La Follette will be requested to offer his credentials and perform that service. If he declines, some other senator must be found. Mr. Nelson is the most likely to be selected.

the Dieter hut was found bespattered

JANUARY MARKETS
The marked fall in exports in the month of January and the seven months ending with January and the encouraging features of the general record on the import side of our trade accounts are discussed in a statement just prepared by the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor.

The total value of the exports of the country in the month of January, 1909, was but $156,682,210 against $206,114,718 in January, 1908; a falling off of practically 50 million dollars for the single month, while for the seven months ending with January the total was $1,031,719,914 against $1,189,000,551 in the corresponding months of the preceding year, a fall of 157 millions in the seven months in question.

This falling off is particularly noticeable in the month of January, 1909, because of the fact that in January, 1908, with which its record is compared, large quantities of merchandise were being pushed out of the country to obtain funds to meet the conditions which had arisen during the period of depression beginning with October, 1907, and the exports of that month were therefore abnormally large. The January, 1908, export figures were, in fact, the largest on record for any January, being 200 million dollars, while the January exports since 1900 have averaged but about 140 million dollars, so that the apparent drop of 50 million dollars is in reality due largely to excessive exportations of the one month with which it is compared—January, 1908.

This is true also with reference to the 7-month period ending with January, since the export figures in November and December, 1907, were also exceptionally large; those three months—November and December, 1907, and January, 1908—being the only ones in the history of our commerce in which the exports exceeded 200 million dollars per month.

Another cause, however, of the falling off in exports is found in the reduced prices of that largest single item of our export trade—raw cotton. The average value of cotton exported in January, 1908, was 17.7 cents per pound, and in January, 1909, 9.4 cents per pound, and during the closing months of 1908 averaged much below that of the corresponding months of 1907, so that the 3,196,570,028 pounds exported in the seven months ending with January, 1909, brought actually 27 1/2 million dollars.

Another cause of the decline is the falling off in quantity of corn, wheat, and flour exported. The prices of all of these articles have been, as is well known, unusually high during the past few months, and this presumably accounts, in part at least, for the fact that the quantity of corn exported fell from 31 million bushels in the seven months ending with January, 1908, to 19 million bushels in the corresponding months ending with January, 1909; wheat fell from 75 million bushels in the seven months ending with January, 1908, to 58 1/2 million in the seven months ending with January, 1909, while flour also showed a slight decline in quantity.

Still another of the causes of the reduction in export figures is found in the marked decline in values of iron and steel manufactures exported; the total value of exports of iron and steel manufactures in the seven months ending with January, 1909, being 80 million dollars against 110 1/2 millions in the corresponding months of 1908, a decline of 36 1/2 million dollars in the value of iron and steel manufactures exported. To how great an extent this is due to lower prices, and to what extent it is due to smaller quantities of iron and steel, the reports to the Bureau of Statistics, though the fact that the export prices of pig iron, steel billets, steel rails, and wire are all less in January, 1909, than in January, 1908, indicates that the fall in export values of iron and steel is due, in part, at least, to lower prices.

PROPERTY RIGHTS
In this day and age of reform one must not be surprised at the sudden wave of prohibition. The Wall Street Journal takes up the subject of "Prohibition and Property Rights" in the following sane and sensible manner. That is well worth considering carefully:

"The rising tide of prohibitionist sentiment, which has already outlawed the liquor traffic in several states, and seems likely to do so in certain others, has developed an economic problem of grave importance. In some of the states where prohibition has been adopted large sums of capital have been invested in the different branches of the liquor business—breweries, distilleries, cooperages, etc. The operation of these concerns gave employment to large bodies of workmen at high wages, and the business was an important factor in commercial affairs. The enactment of prohibition laws means that these establishments must cease operations or be transferred to other states where their traffic is legally tolerated.

"What this changed condition means to property interests may be illustrated by the case of Kentucky, where a movement for state-wide prohibition is under way with a strong likelihood of success. The advocates of the license system, as against prohibition, have prepared a statement for submission to the legislature, in which they contend that the adoption of prohibition would not only amount to the virtual confiscation of large holdings of private property, but that it would also entail heavy losses upon the state itself. They estimate that the real property of the distilling and brewing industries in the state amounts to $67,000,000 and that the working capital employed in the business exceeds $125,000,000. The internal revenue taxes paid to the federal government by these concerns amount to more than $21,000,000 per year, and the payment to the state for licenses and taxes are in excess of $2,000,000. The wages of the men employed in these establishments amount to nearly $12,000,000 per annum, more than $2,000,000 is paid for cooperage and $2,000,000 for bottles and shipping cases.

"It will be observed that the property interests affected by the prohibition movement in Kentucky are very extensive. They present an economic issue which is quite apart from the purely ethical aspect of the liquor question. It is not the purpose here to discuss the moral side of the problem nor to consider whether prohibition or high license is the better agency for dealing with the liquor business.

"The question of property rights and of vested interests involved is one to be faced squarely. In England a system extinguishing these rights gradually over a series of years seems to be at least a workable compromise."

Now that the candidates are in the open, line them up and see whom you want for Mayor, who you desire for city clerk, which one is your administrative selection and your supervisor you would like to see represent the ward. Then go to the primary and vote.

That inquiry at Madison will develop queer situations if they continue the inquiry into the expenses of the defeated and dead campaign and they may even get back to the years when La Follette spent all he could get his hands on before they got through.

This is a strange world, but not half so strange as one would think. History repeats itself continually and even in Janesville things occur in this day and age that appear startling which are similar to happenings of forty years ago or more.

Madison has been as lively a center of disturbance this winter as has Springfield, Illinois, with its Hopkins fight royal for his toga. The only difference is that Stephenson won and Hopkins has not yet snatched victory.

The candidates for city clerk are putting in hard licks in the different wards and they will increase in labors until primary day decides which one wins the coveted honors.

There is one thing that will surprise many a voter primary day and that is you can not split your ticket. It is either straight democratic or straight republican.

Beloit is still in the throes of an anti-liquor campaign that bids fair to close the grog shops of the Blue City with a bump.

What prominent man?

PORTLAND MAYOR AFTER REFORM.

Portland, Ore.—Put moving picture shows in the churches. Make the rooms attractive. Furnish them comfortably with easy chairs and papers to read. Place cupboards within easy reach so that men may smoke and chew and spit at their pleasure. Give the unemployed lodgings for the night. Establish free employment bureaus. Make the churches take the place of the saloons in furnishing a place for the unemployed to go and spend their time. That is the program Portland's "reform" mayor, Dr. Harry Lane, would inaugurate to solve some of the civic problems with which he is confronted.

Mayor Lane outlined his ideas at a meeting of the Portland Baptist Ministerial association Monday, and caused a great to-do among the brethren of the cloth. "I can't turn the White Temple into a lodging house," said Dr. J. Whitcomb, brought Portland's most popular preacher, and a man of national reputation. Others, too, expressed their horror of such a course. "The city hall is so crowded we cannot give a decent workingman out of work a place to spend the night," said Mayor Lane. "He must either wander around in the cold or wet, or be thrown in with a lot of drunks. In view of this, if the churches would open their doors in the evening, and in the daytime, too, if they would give lectures on useful topics, would put in moving picture shows to amuse the men, it would be a good thing."

"They ought to put in spittoons, too, so these men could smoke or chew if they wish. They ought to have a place provided where a man could spend the night if he had no other place to go. I do not propose these things as a reform measure," continued the mayor, "but as a practical, common sense way of doing good. If all the churches on the coast were to do this, a remarkable reduction in the number of crimes would be the result."

The chief opposition to the mayor's plan came from Dr. Broughton, who is pastor of a fashionable congregation. "If anything is to be done to help these men," said he, "it must be done in the district where they congregate. Throwing open the doors of the up-town churches will do no good. Many of these churches have missions in the slums for just this sort of work. Let the men go there if they care to. I also doubt if much good could be accomplished by turning the churches into vaudeville theaters. Not that I do not think the churches ought to do all good they can. I only question the way of doing good."

Mayor Lane is on the second term of a "reform" administration. He is making the most of every opportunity. During his first term he did little in the way of reform, but conducted a quiet business-like administration and went into the second with a large majority. Then things began to happen.

First he went after women in saloons. This reform doctor mayor. A few echoes of the early days lingered in Portland, and moral conditions offered a field for the activities of a reform mayor. He drove the women from the saloons. Then he turned his attentions to gambling, and the edict went forth that no more gambling should be allowed, and that the statutes should be strictly enforced. Gambling "officially" stopped. Next the "north end" tenements came in for a touch of the mayor's reform movement and amid storm and stress and many conflicting opinions the women were driven from the restricted district and it was also "officially" closed. All stalls having been removed from saloons and the police force partly cleaned up of grunting detectives, the mayor looked for now field to spread reform in.

Now he has attacked the churches of Portland.

Heart to Heart Talks.

"REMEMBER THE MAINE!"
Eleven years ago, Feb. 15, the United States battleship Maine blew up, or was blown up, in Havana harbor.

That catastrophe, like the firing on Fort Sumter, started the nation and crystallized public opinion into a declaration of war.

Preceding the Spanish war and during its brief continuance the watch cry in and out of congress was the slogan:

"Remember the Maine!"
Today, eleven years after, the wreck of the battleship will lumber the harbor, although in its tangled and twisted frame the bodies of sixty-three American seamen—or what is left of them.

Today, eleven years after, is just organized the Battleship Maine Memorial association, to commemorate annually the sinking of the vessel.

Meantime the jagged frame of the sunken ship tell to every visitor the tragic story of Feb. 15, 1898.

These things are brought to memory by the recent annual report of Governor McGowan of Cuba.

The governor says the wreck is a serious menace to the shipping of the harbor, occupying, as it does, the best anchorage, and that the obstruction has increased each year by causing a shoal. Worse than this obstruction, however, says the governor, is the fact that the wreck is—

"Apparently ABANDONED and FORGOTTEN by the government and people of the United States!"

Is it not so?
There was always a mystery about the sinking of the Maine, and probably the mystery never will be revealed. Was it destroyed by a torpedo or mine, or was there an internal explosion? Was the explosion an accident or was it planned by Cuban, trickery or Spanish malice?

However that may be, the governor well says in his report that the neglect of this government to dispose of the wreck in some manner has become "a national reproach and an international scandal."

Which serves occasion to say: We Americans are a merciful people. We are easily touched by a matter of national honor or sentiment. And we easily forget. One day we are all a flame with our shouting of "Remember the Maine!" The days pass, and by and by all memory of our passion has passed.

We call the French people volatile. And they are.

But are they more so than we?

Artificial Teeth

I am making lots of new sets of teeth these days.
I have had about 20 years' experience, and ought to know just how to make teeth that fit.
I believe I can do better by you than most dentists if you want new teeth.
I believe in saving all natural teeth that are worth saving.
Personally, I would rather have two of my own natural teeth (if they fit) than all the false ones a Dentist could give me.
But, of course, if your teeth are all gone to pieces, it then becomes a proposition of "doing the best we can to replace them."

ANNIVERSARY OF THE DEDICATION

Of New Carill Memorial M. E. Church Was Observed With Picnic Supper and Program Last Evening.

Last evening the members and friends of the Carill Memorial Methodist Episcopal church met to celebrate the third anniversary of the dedication of their new church building. Despite the inclement weather, a large number assembled in the dining-room where a sumptuous picnic supper was served at half-past six o'clock.

Following this a fine musical program was given. The first number was a quartet by the Misses Cora Anderson, Pearl Hall, Elita Scott and Mrs. Clark. Mrs. Laubhor of Milton Junction, former leader of the choir, rendered a solo accompanied by Miss Price of Milton college, violinist, and Mrs. F. T. Richards, pianist. Miss Lewis, accompanied by Miss Blanton, accompanied the audience with a vocal selection.

Miss Wallace, recently of Monroe, favored the company with selections on the piano and demonstrated her ability as worthy a place amongst the musical people of the city. The gathering showed their appreciation of all the numbers by their enthusiastic applause, to which all the performers generously responded by encores, made a splendid showing for the past three years and inspired the congregation with courage and confidence for the future. George Jacobs, who has had charge of the bands, was very enthusiastic in his outline of the work, showing very clearly that some of the bands yet outstanding were as good as gold and would be forthcoming in a few months. No report was listened to with more attention than that given by Mrs. N. Dunwiddie, president of the Ladies Aid society, which showed they had during the last three years accomplished a task thought by some to be impossible. They are working with unabated zeal to liquidate the small balance left on their bonds.

JOHN TILL REVEALS SECRET OF PLASTER

Miraculous "Cure All" is Composed of Tallow And Tiglium (Croton Oil).

At Baron, Wis., yesterday, John Till of Alameda, unfolded the secret of the composition of the ointments and plasters used to effect his mysterious "cures." In an examination before County Judge C. W. Meadows under the discovery statute in the $25,000 malpractice suit instituted by Patrick Sullivan of Milwaukee, Till stated under oath that his plasters were composed of tallow and croton oil, the latter being the pharmaceutical name for croton oil. When desired in the liquid form for an ointment or liniment, olive oil or linseed oil is substituted for the tallow.

Another ointment is composed of alcohol, fish oil, and ammoniac. The only instructions given to patients are to use no intoxicating liquors, eat nothing sour, and not to wash in cold water. Till declared that he learned his lore from a blacksmith in Australia; that his diagnosis is based upon his feeling of the nerves from the afflicted parts of the body where they pass through the spinal cord at the back of the neck; that his ability to diagnose cases by merely feeling the back of the neck of the patient was born in him and was not possessed by any other person to his knowledge. He refused to divulge the proportions of the several ingredients used and emphatically denied that croton oil is one of them, but named it under the pharmaceutical title. He exhibited two beans, claiming one of them to be a croton bean and the other a tiglium bean, and maintained that they were not identical.

Sullivan claims to have been treated with one of these tiglium plasters for locomotor ataxia.

GIRL ARRESTED FOR STEALING PENNIES

Miss Blanche Delong Put in Lockup for Taking Money in Baby's Bank—Was Later Given Liberty.

A young lady, 17 years of age, and giving her name as Blanche Delong, was arrested and lodged in the city lockup for stealing money from a baby's bank. Miss Delong visited here last week with the Hanson family on Academy street and when she left it was found that several dollars had been put in a baby's bank were missing.

On Saturday she came to the Park hotel where she was registered as Blanche Delong, of Deloit. When she departed Sunday, she paid her bill in pennies and other small change, thus arousing the suspicion of the management. The police were notified and arrested the girl. She was taken to the lockup and Mr. Hanson was notified, but he did not desire to make a complaint against her. After she had been given a severe lecture she was allowed to go and left the city, probably going to Milwaukee, where she came from.

But Not to Water.
"Here's where I am driven to drink," remarked the horse as it was hitched to the brewery wagon—Philadelphia Record.

Assisted in Work of Italian Relief.

Miss Mary Albina, who P's Visited Here, Was in Sicily at Time of Great Earthquake.

Miss Mary Albina, a young lady residing in Racine, but who has visited in this city as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Howland, Washington street, was a traveler in Sicily at the time of the recent earthquake and has written her friends in this city concerning her experiences. At the time of the earthquake, Miss Albina was in the city of Palermo, and on the day of the great calamity was on a mountain overlooking that place. Only a slight shock was felt in the latter city, but the refugees from Messina flocked into Palermo. Miss Albina assisted in the relief work, by cooking, one day preparing a meal for forty men, and by helping in assorting clothing for the sufferers. She has also made an extensive tour through England, France, Spain, and Italy and has written some very interesting letters to her friends here concerning her travels.

MRS. A. E. BROWN, EXPERT IN IDENTIFYING MUTILATED CURRENCY IN TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

One of the most interesting departments in the United States government is the treasury, and one branch of this which is of particular interest is that of the redemption of buried or mutilated currency.

The chief of this government is Mrs. A. E. Brown. She is a woman of culture and refinement, and would grace any society. She has been connected with this department for 24 years, and has become very expert in her work. There is received in this department an average of $1,000,000 per day, but only the worst of it reaches Mrs. Brown, for there are others—all experts—who do this work. But when bills are received so mutilated that they baffle the skill of all others, they are turned over to Mrs. Brown and her two able assistants, who work in a quiet corner of the treasury building not accessible to visitors, and there with an untiring patience they work sometimes for several days on one bill but when it is fully identified their reward is ample, for they feel that, in a sense, they are benefactors, for often their identification means very much to the owner, sometimes the savings of years, that have been secreted in some place that was thought to be secure, but proved to be very hazardous. Mrs. Brown can give many examples that have come to her knowledge that are very interesting.

She tells an interesting incident of a man in one of the southern states, who had lost confidence in banks, buried $10,000 in bills in a tin pail. After several years he dug it up, but found that the pail had rusted and the cover had become separated from the pail, and he could find nothing that looked like money, but at last he found a hard lump resembling clay. He concluded that it must be his treasure, so he sent it to Washington, and after several days of careful work they identified and secured for him $9,975.

Another incident that came under her observation was that of a sailor who did his banking with a leather belt that he wore constantly about his body. When he drew his pay he opened the belt and deposited there in what he did not want to use. When he wanted more money than he had with him, he opened it and took some out, but kept no record of other transactions. After some years he quit the sea and concluded to take his money and go into business. When he opened his belt, to his dismay, he found that the heat and moisture from his body had so decomposed his bills that it was impossible for him to separate them or to tell anything about how much he had. So feeling sure that he would be perfectly safe to say there was $800, he sent it on to this department, stating that there was that amount, but after careful investigation they not only for him $1,850, much to his delight.

The amount paid on this mutilated currency is restricted, so that overpayment is impossible. If three-fifths of a note is received, it is redeemable at its face value. If less than three-fifths and more than two-fifths, at half its value, but otherwise must be made that the rest is destroyed, and the character of the reason of the person must be vouched for by reputable parties. No currency is redeemed unless some part of it is sent into the treasury. Ours is the only the pieces together to make the whole bill, but take some features of the bill that only once, like a word a signature or some particular point and as many as they can find of these details the number of the bills.

...At $5.48...

These waists were purchased last fall from one of our most reliable manufacturers, are well made in every respect, fit exceedingly well, and are designs that are not excelled anywhere.

These fancy Silk Waists are made with ¾ length sleeves, are particularly desirable to wear with suits and for dressy occasions the year round. All sizes are in this lot, also a few black silk waists.

THE SHORT SLEEVES. There seems to be a division of opinion in regard to sleeves. The sleeves on these waists are ¾ length and are considered short. There is an uncertainty about the sleeve question this year. Competent authorities claim that the short sleeve will be very much in evidence this year as the season progresses, and the manufacturers of gloves have made about the same quantity of long silk gloves this year, which they would hardly have done on an uncertainty. Many women with beautiful arms will probably be adverse to wearing the long sleeves.

HOWEVER, be that as it may, these waists are remarkable bargains at the price. Those who wish long sleeve waists can let out the tucks on the sleeves, or lengthen them with insertion and edge.

A detailed description of these beautiful waists is impossible within the limits of space, but there is a beautiful display of them in our window.

Bostonian Styles Are Revelations of Beauty in Footwear

We have always claimed, and the facts bear out our contention, that Bostonian Shoes for men represent both in style and wearing quality more worth than any other shoe at the money and equal in both respects to those shoes which sell at $5 and $6. The wonderful showing this spring is well calculated to cut another notch for Bostonian reputation. The beautiful tans and ox-bloods in both oxfords and shoes are bound to be popular, as are the high and low cuts in patent leathers, patent colts, vicci kids, etc. The fad styles are all included, for instance the tan oxford with the dog collar rim, those with the buckle tops, those with the perforated wing toes. These you find in the Bostonian shoes. We want you to see them—it's a pleasure to show them, and our time is yours whenever you are ready to look. Prices ought to be higher, but never more.

JOB FOR FAIRBANKS

May Be Ambassador to Great Britain.

CANDIDATES ARE SCARCE

Rich Men Find It Necessary to Stay at Home and Take Care of Business Crippled by Panic—Place for Strauss.

Washington, Mar. 8.—For the first time in years, if not in history, there is a dearth of candidates for ambassadorship positions. Ordinarily wealthy men in numbers are after the places, but this year President Taft may have difficulty in filling the places in which he desires to make changes.

The reason given is that the wealthy men, to whom those positions usually go, are hard up. They have been hit by the panic, and succeeding depressions. Their business affairs are requiring their close attention and they are unable to give the time and bear the expense which the first-class positions involve.

Fairbanks for England. There is remarkable unanimity in the opinion that Charles Warren Fairbanks is the one peculiarly equipped man for the St. James embassy. Whether President Taft will be disposed to recognize the significance of his strong backing is only to be guessed; but if word should come from the executive offices that Mr. Fairbanks was persona grata in this connection there is no question that he would, without the turn of a hand, promptly have a most remarkable support for the appointment. Those that posted to know his disposition believe he would not refuse the place if offered, and they also believe he will not be a candidate for it.

Strauss Going to Japan. While the information is unofficial, it is understood to be almost definitely settled that former Secretary Strauss of the department of commerce and labor will be appointed ambassador to Japan. It is well known to those in touch with Mr. Strauss that he leans toward a diplomatic career and the position of ambassador to Japan would appeal strongly to him.

While he was secretary of commerce and labor he had largely to do with the Japanese immigration question. Mr. Strauss has reached no definite conclusion, but it is not unlikely that a formal announcement of his appointment to some important diplomatic post will be made in the near future.

New York has three ambassadors at present. They are Whitelaw Reid, at London; Charles S. Francis of Troy at Vienna; and David Jayne Hill at Berlin. Of these, Dr. Hill is regarded as the one most likely to be retained, chiefly because he has been there only a short time, has distinctly made good, and took the post under embarrassing circumstances. That Mr. Reid will remain in London is thought altogether unlikely, unless the poverty of the wealthy men should make it difficult to interpret the right man in the post.

Another Hoosier Named. Addison C. Harris of Indianapolis, who was ambassador to Austria-Hungary under the McKinley administration, and made an excellent record, is one of the men pressed for reappointment to the service. If Mr. Fairbanks should go to London, however, Mr. Harris would hardly be available.

Iowa has candidates for two second-class posts. Thomas C. Dawson, now minister to Colombia, aspires to the Argentine mission. Maj. S. H. Myers of Des Moines, who for many years was consul at one of the Swiss cities, is a candidate for minister to Switzerland.

VINOL CURES CHRONIC COUGHS, COLDS AND BRONCHITIS.

After Other Remedies Fail.

"I have been troubled with a chronic cold and bronchitis for a long time and have tried many remedies without finding relief. Through the kind suggestion of a friend I tried Vinol, and after taking four bottles, am entirely cured." A. H. Wilde, 733-8th Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.

S. McDonald, 147 W. Congress St. Paul, Minn., writes: "I contracted a severe cold last winter and thought I would never get rid of it. I tried Vinol as a last resort, and it has completely cured me."

Vinol combines two world-famous tonics, the healing, medicinal properties of cod liver oil and tonic iron, deliciously palatable and agreeable to the weakest stomach. For this reason, Vinol is unequalled as a strength-builder for old people, delicate children, weak and run-down persons, after sickness and for Chronic Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis.

REACHING THE SPOT.

It Can Be Done, So Scores of Janesville Citizens Say.

To cure an aching back, the pain of rheumatism, the tired-out feelings, You must reach the spot—get at the cause.

In most cases 'tis the kidneys, Donnan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys. Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, living at 58 Terrace St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I have been a sufferer from rheumatism and kidney trouble for the past ten or twelve years and during that time have had some bad spells. I did not suffer so much from my kidneys, which occasionally become disordered but was constantly annoyed by a swelling of my joints. I could find nothing that would give me relief until finally about four years ago I learned of Donnan's Kidney Pills and sent to the People's Drug Co. for a supply. I was soon feeling better after beginning their use and my kidneys grew stronger. I have not been without this remedy in the house since and it is the only preparation that keeps my kidneys in good condition. I heartily recommend Donnan's Kidney Pills to others."

neks, and without, probably the knowledge of Washington. Isle Royale, in Lake Superior, in almost its entirety has just been purchased by American interests from the English syndicate which owned it for many years. The deal was concluded in London by F. W. Nichols of Houghton and Oscar J. Larson of Duluth, the latter the agent for the United States Steel Corporation.

In the copper country it is believed that the steel corporation intends to cut the timber from the island and probably to exploit anew its abandoned copper workings, those latter being the island mines of Siskiwit bay and the Manganese mine at McGargow Cove. The company making the sale is the Isle Royale Land Corporation, Limited, of Liverpool.

CLAIMS MILLIONAIRE RELATIVE.

Woman, Believed Demented, Says She Is James J. Hill's Sister-in-Law.

Chicago, Mar. 9.—Claiming to be a sister-in-law of James J. Hill, railroad magnate, Mrs. Elizabeth C. McMeley, 43 years old, is being held at the Harrison street annex to await the result of a communication from the police at Sparta, Wis., where the woman says she came from last Saturday.

Mrs. McMeley, with a 16-month-old baby in her arms, walked into the Fifth street police station early Saturday morning and asked the police to obtain employment for her.

The queer actions of the woman led the police to believe she is demented. Assistant City Physician Lowy, who examined the woman, says he believes she is insane.

LAWYER FACES IMPRISONMENT.

Danville Attorney Is on Trial for Alleged Counterfeiting.

Danville, Ill., Mar. 9.—The trial of Charles E. Brown, a Danville lawyer, who was indicted by the September term of the federal grand jury on five counts and rebekilled by the March term on 34 more counts on a charge of being a maker of spurious coin, was begun here yesterday. Brown is being defended by Attorneys William Action, Edward Salmons and J. H. Mann. District Attorney W. B. Trautman heads the attorneys for the United States.

Brown was arrested last August following a watch of three months by federal authorities. A complete counterfeiting outfit was found in the basement of his residence.

NO VERDICT ON MURDER.

Coroner Keeps Schultz Case Open for Further Investigation.

Washington, Mar. 9.—No verdict was rendered by the coroner's jury which is investigating the death of Walter F. Schultz, a Chicago artist, whose body was found on Sunday morning with a deep cut in the neck, in a field about 500 yards from the railroad station at Alexandria, Va.

The jury was dismissed subject to call after the coroner has obtained some further facts which he is investigating. It is declared, however, that the verdict probably will be that Schultz met death at the hands of some person or persons unknown.

THE LAST VOYAGE OF THE DONNA ISABEL

BY RANDALL PARRISH ILLUSTRATIONS BY W. DEARBORN MELVILL

"Well, having nothing better to do, I was there when he came, and he showed up with a 'mackerel' big as his arm. Then he made me tell him that yarn over again, and describe the ship just exactly as I remembered it. Then, when I'd got through, he told me everything I could dig out of my memory, he opened up that book of his on the table, and damme, sir, if he didn't show me a picture of that same old hooker, plain as life, only everything was trim and shipshape on board, with the masts up and the sails drawn. The name was printed underneath, too—Donna Isabel, Cadiz."

"That hooker he showed me was printed in Spanish—but just like what you see to-day, sir, but the lettering all rough, as though it had been cut out of wood, but the fellow showed me the date when it was printed, and it read 'Seville, 1779,' plain enough. Francisco wrote out in English what he said was printed there about this Donna Isabel; and there it is, sir, in his own handwriting."

He took the paper out of his inner coat pocket and spread it open on the table before us. Do Nova and Anderson leaned forward eagerly to look at it, but Tuttle shoved it along toward me.

"Read it out loud, sir," he said, his voice trembling. The writing was not clear, and I held it up to the light.

"Galleon Donna Isabel, ship-rigged, 250 tons, Amador, Master, built 1730, home port Cadiz. Sailed Guayaquil for Valencia, June 11, 1753; crew numbered 32, passengers 17, including five women; carried treasure, in gold ingots and pieces of eight, valued at 3,000,000 pesos, consigned by Candamo, presidente, to department of the west, receipted for by Salvadore, government agent. Spoken by ship conquistador, Sanchez, master, July 10, 1753, 80 degrees 20 minutes west and 47 degrees 15 minutes south; all well. Lost at sea; no report."

I put down the paper, and looked across at Tuttle; he sat motionless, his head in his hands. I confess the tale had affected me strangely, and I could not doubt that the man honestly believed every word he had uttered. Yet it was far too marvelous ever to be true; too impossible; too wildly romantic. It must have been a hallucination, an optical illusion born from a mirage of fog and sun in those frozen seas. Over 3,000,000 pesos, locked within the eternal ice for 120 years! Over 3,000,000 pesos, guarded by the dead for a century amid that grim desolation of created and God!

It was simply unthinkable, and I even ventured to smile at the credulity of the men about me; yet I did it with set jaws and lips parched and dry. What if it was all true? I felt the blood boiling up through my veins, every extremity tingling with the fever of it. Over 3,000,000 pesos! Merciful mother! It was the ransom of a king; it was the temptation of hell! I knew not how I controlled my voice so as to question calmly, for, even as I first spoke, I noticed how my hands trembled where they rested on the outspread map.

"Is that all?" Tuttle nodded his head, uplifting his eyes questioningly to mine. "That's the whole of it, sir. What do you think?"

"That's more than I know, Mr. Tuttle. Perhaps you dreamed, perhaps Francisco lied. I should have liked to see that book."

"I bent lower over the chart, staring at the red cross. 'What was it you men wanted me for?'"

"To operate the steamer, sir; the rest of us aboard only understand sailing vessels."

"Yes, of course; but why did you happen to choose a steamer for the job? There were plenty of sailing craft, lying in the harbor easier to steal than this yacht."

"Very true, but it happened to be every angle of the desperate game he was playing."

"Your scheme certainly sounds reasonable enough," I admitted, almost reluctantly. "And the chances are you will get there all right. But suppose you do; suppose you discover this mysterious island; suppose you find there the galleon as you say; suppose you even succeed in getting aboard, and into possession of the treasure—what then? Don't you know you're bound to be caught the minute you come out of the Antarctic into any ocean patrolled by the fleets of the world? You have committed piracy—a crime against the nations—and the civilized world will unite to hunt you down."

"That's another reason why we had to have a steamer," he explained, calmly. "You just remarked that they'd be looking for the Sea Queen to come back. Well, let 'em look; they won't never see her, sir. Once we get that gold under hatches, an' back as far as that rock they call Dougherty Island—an' that's only a run o' maybe 500 miles—I'll engage to make over this here Sea Queen so that her own captain wouldn't know her 50 feet away. How? I'd strip the engines out o' her, h't it the stack overboard, tear down the bridge an' wheelhouse, fix her as a barkentine, change every line o' paint for an' aft, an' then wreck her somewhere along the east Patagonian coast, or maybe the Falklands. It would be nothin' but a bloomin' whaler gone ashore, an' afore anybody finds out different, we'll be scottered to hell an' back."

I was obliged to acknowledge to myself that it was not an impossible plan. Eliminating the chance of accident or some unusually bad luck, success appeared not only possible, but probable.

"Did you think all that out yourself, Mr. Tuttle?" "Well, Francisco suggested considerable, but we did it together."

"Where is he?" "The mate laughed, his eyes expressive of contempt. "Not much, he hadn't the nerve. He's a schemer all right, but a blazer."

These are especially women's afflictions. They are caused by irregular working of some of the functions of the body. It is of the utmost importance to every woman to know that there is no medicine so valuable for her, so helpful, so strengthening, as

Lane's Family Medicine (called also Lane's Tea)

coward."

"Just suppose he gets to talking back there in Valparaiso?" It was big Bill Anderson who answered me, disgusted with our long controversy.

"Oh, to hell with Francisco!" he broke in, gruffly. "It's what you're going to do we want to know. Francisco'll hold his gaff well enough. He expects a bit of the swag, an', besides, I let him know what was comin' to him if he let his tongue wag. I had him right, let me tell you, an', damme, Mr. Stephens, the bully in him breaking all bounds, 'if it ain't comin' the same way to any other duffer who goes back on us this trip. That's what talks!" He jerked his sheath-knife from his belt, and, with one fierce lunge, drove it half to the hilt into the table, his brute eyes scowling threateningly into mine. (To be Continued.)

Called as Witness; Falls Dead.

Des Moines, Ia., Mar. 9.—When she was notified that she was to take the stand to testify against Harry Jones, alleged slayer of the Van Winkle family, Mrs. Van Winkle dropped dead from excitement at Muscatine yesterday. The woman who was 60 years old, all along had expressed the wish of seeing Jones hanged for the murder of her son and daughter-in-law.

The Provincialism of Self.

The narrowest provincialism is that of self. The natural man, like the singing bird, comes out of the forest as inevitably as the natural bear and the wild cat stalk there. To seek to be natural implies a consciousness that forbids all naturalness forever.—James Russell Lowell.

WHY ECZEMA PATIENTS SUFFER.

No Wonder They Despair—But Cure Has Now Been Found.

It is a strange thing about eczema. After wasting money on nostrums, dosing the stomach or smearing on greasy salves for years, many a skin sufferer gives up in despair. He says: "What is the use, some may be cured but my case is hopeless."

Just a trial of the simplest remedy—just a little oil of wintergreen properly compounded (as in D. D. D. Prescription) will wash away that itch. In fact, it will take away the itch immediately, the instant D. D. D. is applied.

Read this letter from Thomas Chapman, U. P. Passenger Agent at Milwaukee, Kan.:

"I cannot delay any longer writing to tell you how grateful I feel for the great benefit I have derived from your medicine. I have used it for eczema, fever, sore throat, itching, chills, around certain parts of the body caused by perspiration, etc., and the instant I have applied it, the trouble ceases."

Now, if there is any one in your town suffering with eczema, ringworm, tetter, psoriasis or poison ivy, tell this sufferer not to sit back and say, "I have tried everything, there is no cure for me."

AT THE PLAY HOUSES

Like the horns of Iceland, bells at sunset, the voice of an old friend from out of the past, clear, sweet, flexible and full, possessing the rare quality of perfect sympathy with the singer, she sang, came the wonderful voice notes haunting the pillows of many a Peorian last night.

Peoria Journal, Feb. 20th, 1909.

—Miss Jeanie Fletcher and her high class company of entertainers will appear at Myers theatre Sunday evening.

MISS JEANIE FLETCHER, SCOTT ISH SINGER, MYERS, SUNDAY of Jeanie Fletcher last night at the Grand.

And sweetest of all rang the melody of "Coma" (The Rye). And again this time in high plauds and lifts and far more bewitching than in the gown—she sang "Auld Lang Syne", sung it at the close of the program as the audience gathered up hats and wraps. But hats and wraps were forgotten in the aviation that followed until the Scottish song bird reappeared and sang her song once more, its

When Glass Acquires Value.

Glass is among the cheapest products, but made into microscopic objects its value approaches that of gold.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, March 9, 1869.—Election of Engineers.—At the annual election of a Chief Engineer and his assistants last evening, the following gentlemen were elected by acclamation. This is the first time in the history of our fire department when such unanimity has been manifested and speaks well for the friendly feeling existing between the different companies. Chief Engineer, John R. Hodson; 1st Assistant, Randall Williams; second Assistant, William Herrell.

A Jail Bird Caught.—A few weeks since, three prisoners confined in the jail at Freeport, made their escape and left for parts unknown. One of them, Bob Johnson, was captured here and returned to his old quarters. The others kept out of sight until yesterday, when the officers thought they discovered one of the missing birds in a saloon, in this city, and immediately arrested him and lodged him in jail. Soon after he was secured, a man arrived here from Jefferson who said he was in pursuit of a fellow who had broken into a house and stolen his parlor-table containing his pocketbook and a knife. He was informed that a suspicious man had been arrested and was in jail and that the sheriff had the knife in his pocket. This was produced and at once recognized as the one stolen with the articles above referred to. This was conclusive evidence that a burglar had been captured in the person of this jail-breaker. If his time is nearly out in Illinois, he has a good prospect in this state.

Found at Last.—The Sheriff has been for a number of days engaged in a thorough search for the saw with which the prisoners in jail cut off the iron grating on the windows. Beds and clothing have been overhauled, but yesterday persistence was rewarded by discovering the article sought for, in a locality that had not before been examined.

YOUNG MEN WANTED

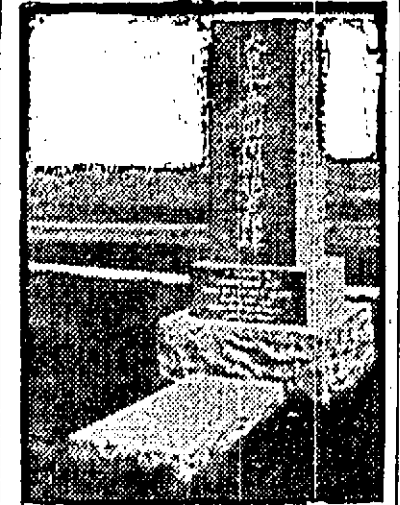

United States Government Gives Railway Mail Clerks $800 a Year to Start, and Increases to $1200.

Uncle Sam will hold an examination for Railway Mail Clerks in the vicinity of Janesville on May 15. Many ambitious young men, with only a very ordinary school education, can readily pass. The government wants young men over 18 with common sense, to take examinations for railway mail clerks and carriers, and the Government Positions Bureau, of Rochester, N. Y., with its peculiar knowledge of the requirements of the examination, can fit any young man in a few weeks to pass. A government position means steady work, good pay, and a yearly vacation. There is time to prepare for the May 15 examinations, and any reader of the Gazette can get full information how to proceed, free of charge, by writing The Government Positions Bureau, 319 Powers Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Monarch Pottery.

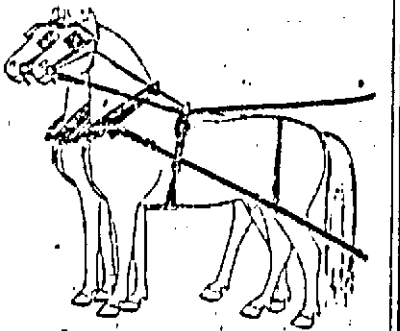

We wonder that some of our enterprising firms with the great resources at their command do not produce cheap artistic pottery, for it would possibly create its own market after a time. One cardinal fault among most shopkeepers appears to be that art with a big A must be paid extra for. Until we get rid of this foolish belief we shall not make much progress in popularizing art.—British Architect.

JAPANESE MONUMENT IN VIRGINIA.

Virginia boasts many unique and interesting monuments to her illustrious sons of the past, but in Hollywood cemetery, Richmond, is a monument erected by the Japanese government and bearing a Japanese inscription which is the most unique in Virginia. It is a memorial to the commissioner and inspector in the bureau of the Japanese tobacco monopoly, who died while stationed at Richmond several years ago.

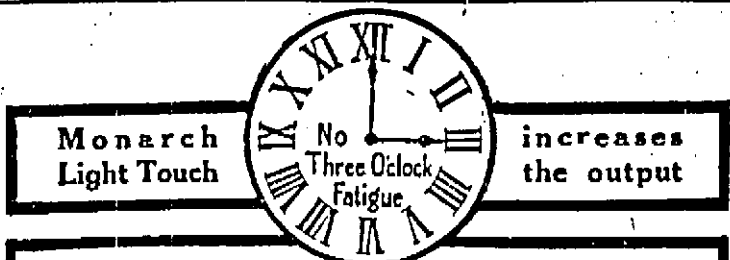

Our Famous Double Spring Wagon Harness

This harness has no equal. It is the best harness on the market. We defy competition in wearing quality, material, workmanship and finish. It is made of the best heavy A. No. 1 selected leather. It will wear for years. Guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction. Full Davis rubber trimmings. Without collars, $25.00; with collars, $30.00. Nickel or brass trimmed, without collars, $29.00; with collars, $33.00.

Now is the time to have your harness cleaned, oiled and repaired. A harness well taken care of will outlive three sets of harness subjected to ordinary wear and tear and not kept in condition. Our repair department is the best in Southern Wisconsin. Bring in your harness and have them made new before the spring work starts. Our prices are generally lower than elsewhere.

Patriotism

The stomach is a larger factor in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" than most people are aware. Patriotism can withstand hunger but not dyspepsia. The confirmed dyspeptic "is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils." The man who goes to the front for his country with a weak stomach will be a weak soldier and a fault finder.

A sound stomach makes for good citizenship as well as for health and happiness.

Diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are promptly and permanently cured by the use of
